Overview Breakout Creative wins tons of awards for its work. The problem is that even though you are a top creative shop, you need to get your work in front of the right people at Fortune 500 companies, and these people are not returning your calls. Breakout Creative asked VIA to create a program to help get its foot in the door. Peak the interest of the potential client using a series of three mailers. Under the theme To break through, first you gotta breakout, the mailers included tools to breakout.
