Overview I am very pleased you have considered placing your child in our care. Choosing the right childcare provider and school is an important part of any working family's life. I hope that we will grow together in raising your child and form a bond that will last a lifetime. There are many benefits of in-home daycare, one of the most profound is the peace of mind you and your child will have in a small home setting with multiple age groups. All of your questions, comments, and concerns are extremely
